Re: Long Range Planning

A couple of weeks ago, I had the opportunity to work with a group of teachers who had just purchased the Crossroads material. They wanted some support with the implementation of this wonderful resource and I was pleased to be able to share some ideas with them.

As we discussed long range planning, I presented a rationale I had used in my classroom. While the ideas are not unique, radical, or “cutting edge”, the group felt that other teachers using Crossroads would probably find them useful. They suggested I post my overheads on our website so that more teachers could access them.

So, I share the following ideas as a starting point, food for thought or as an idea which you might consider in your planning. The suggestions are not meant to be “the way” to use Crossroads and may not work in your particular situation or with your class. However, I share them in the spirit of “working together” and hope that they might be of some help to you.

In the meantime, if you are using Crossroads and have a unit planned, if you have a rubric developed specifically for Crossroads or if your students have completed a project they particularly enjoyed, I would love to hear from you. Send me your ideas and I will try to post them on the Gagelearning website for other Crossroads Grade 7 & 8 teachers.

Regards,

Lynn
Using Crossroads in the Classroom

Try using a unit/theme as outlined in the Teacher’s Guide. Following the suggestions provided by the authors will give you the background knowledge needed to use Crossroads in a number of different ways at a future date.

1. To begin your long range planning consider the time you have for your program:
   a. Consider you have approximately 36 instructional weeks in a year (several weeks seem to disappear with track meets, concerts, field trips, etc.)
   b. Determine the number of units you will be able to cover within the year (Crossroads has 6 units per grade and you will probably want to do 2 additional novel study units)
   c. Decide on the number of minutes per day for your Language Arts program (I always work towards a minimum of 75 minutes per day including my spelling program)

2. Plot your long range plans on a calendar or make an overview plan like the following example:

   Crossroads - Grade 7 Long Range Plans
   Unit 1: Find the Courage: Personal Focus
   5 weeks (September - October)
   Unit 2: Think Outside the Box: Innovations
   5 weeks (October - November)
   Unit 3: Novel Study
   2 - 3 weeks (November)
   Unit 4: A Fiction Mix: Short Stories
   6 weeks (January - February)
   Unit 5: On the Funny Side
   5 weeks (February - March)
   Unit 6: Novel Study
   3 weeks (March - April)
   Unit 7: A Better World: Issues
   5 weeks (April - May)
   Unit 8: Disasters!: Media Mix
   5 weeks (May - June)
3. Begin the unit planning by:
   a) Surveying the anthology selections to determine the reading levels and the variety of genre. You will need to make some choices about what you will use and what you will omit so this information will be invaluable in your planning.

   Example:
   Unit 5: Grade 7: On the Funny Side - 25 Class periods
   i) Reading selections for the Whole Class:
      1) Just for a Laugh (E+)
      2) Writing on the Funny Side of the Brain (A+)
      3) Thank You, Uncle Ben (A)
      4) Great Cows of History (E)
   ii) Reading selections for Group 1- Challenge:
      1) Introducing Norbert (A+)
      2) Quips and Quotes (C)
   iii) Reading selections for Group 2- at Grade level:
      1) Frog (E)
      2) The Friends of Kwan Ming (A)
   iv) Reading selections for Group 3- Support:
      1) Frog (E)
      2) Make Me Laugh (BLM - Alternate reading selection)

   b) Determine the Expectations or Outcomes you will be focusing on, as well as the ones you will be assessing in the unit

   Example:
   Unit 5: Grade 7: On the Funny Side - 25 Class periods

   Oral Communication:
   Use non-verbal techniques - Tell a joke

   Writing:
   Produce pieces of writing using a variety of forms: humourous letter, how-to article

   Visual Communication:
   Analyse and interpret media works - humourous advertisements
Reading:
Read independently selecting appropriate reading strategies – visualization, comparison

c) Decide on the number of days you will be able to spend on each on selection and chart it out on either a calendar or as follows:

Example:
Crossroads – Grade 7 Long Range Plans for - Unit 5:
On the Funny Side

Days 1-2: Unit Opening Activities
Days 3-5: Just for a Laugh – all students - provide extra support for Group 3 as required
Days 6-7: Group 1: Make Me Laugh (alternative reading selection)
Group 2: The Friends of Kwan Ming
Group 3: Introducing Norbert
Days 8 -9: Group 3: Practice and Present a joke
             Group 2: Practice and Perform scene
             Group 1: Practice and Perform Dialogue
Day 10: All: Great Cows of History
Days 11- 14; Groups 2 & 3: Frog
             Group 1: Quips and Quotes
Days 15-19: All: Writing on the Funny Side of the Brain and on How-to Write a How-to Days 20 -22: All: Thank you Uncle Ben provide extra support for Group 3 as required
Days 23 -25: End of unit assessment preparation and presentation

d) Develop your daily lesson plans by selecting activities from the Crossroads Teaching plans for the appropriate selections.
Example:
Crossroads - Grade 7 Daily Teaching Plans for - Unit 5: On the Funny Side

Days 6-8: Three groups each working on a different selection:

Day 6:

10 minutes    All: Continue discussion on humour - guide page 211 on stand-up comedian (10 minutes)
