SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS	Unit 1: Canada's Interactions with the Global Community			Unit 2: Communities in Canada, Past and Present
A1.1 explain how various features that characterize a community can contribute to the identity and image of a country (e.g., built features such as memorials, different types of buildings, parks; physical features such as climate, landscape, vegetation, wildlife; social aspects such as cultural traditions, religious celebrations, economic bases), and assess the contribution of some of these features to Canada's image and identity (e.g., with reference to resource-based communities such as mining or logging towns or fishing outports; the Canadian winter; landscapes such as mountains, prairies, sea coasts, tundra; wildlife such as moose, elk, beaver, bison, cod; the variety of ethnic neighbourhoods in some of Canada's largest cities) Sample questions: "In what ways do war memorials contribute to an understanding of Canadian identity?" "Why are the old grain elevators on the prairies a key image of Canada?" "In what ways does the Canadian climate contribute to the identity of the country? To its global image?" "Why are the maple leaf and the beaver symbols of Canada? What do these symbols imply about this country?" "Why are certain features/symbols more significant to some groups than others?"				SB p. 118 SB p. 138 SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 156–157 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 183–185	TR pp. 230–232 TR pp. 272–273 TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 298–301 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 356–359	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #2
A1.2 evaluate some of the contributions that various ethnic and/or religious groups have made to Canadian identity (e.g., the contributions of First Nations to Canadian art, of French and English communities to the development of Canada as a bilingual country, of the British to the Canadian parliamentary system, of Chinese labourers to the construction of the transcontinental railway, of Irish and Italian workers to the development of canal systems on the Great Lakes, of various communities to Canada's multicultural identity) Sample questions: "Who are the founding nations of Canada? For whom is the concept of 'founding nations' troubling? Why?" "In what ways is the Canadian system of government similar to that of Great Britain? What accounts for the similarities? Do you think Canada's status as a constitutional monarchy is important to our identity as Canadians? Why or why not?" "In what ways have South Asians or East Asians contributed to Canada and Canadian identity?"				SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 126–129 SB pp. 132–135 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 158–159 SB p. 160 SB pp. 161–163 SB pp. 166–169 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 186–189 SB pp. 192–195 SB pp. 196–197 SB pp. 200–201 SB pp. 202–203	TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 246–250 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 302–305 TR pp. 314–315 TR pp. 316–319 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 360–363 TR pp. 368–372 TR pp. 373–376 TR pp. 381–384 TR pp. 385–388	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #2

A1.3 explain how various groups have contributed to the goal of inclusiveness in Canada (e.g., the efforts of women’s rights, civil rights, First Nations, or labour organizations, or of advocacy organizations for immigrants, disabled people, or various religious or ethnic groups), and assess the extent to which Canada has achieved the goal of being an inclusive society (e.g., with reference to the policy of multiculturalism, the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the Ontario Human Rights Code, the Ontarians with Disabilities Act, freedom of religion, the recognition of gay marriage) Sample questions: “What are some of the actions that have been taken by First Nations individuals or organizations to improve the status of First Nations people in Canadian society?” “What was the role of women’s groups in ensuring that gender was included in the Charter of Rights?” “What actions have been taken by individuals or by organizations such as L’Arche to improve the status and the quality of life of people with disabilities in Canadian society?” “Do you think that Canadian society allows for your community to make a meaningful contribution to Canada’s identity?”				SB pp. 130–131 SB pp. 136–137 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 161–163 SB pp. 164–165 SB pp. 166–169 SB pp. 170–171 SB pp. 176–177 SB pp. 180–181 SB p. 182 SB pp. 183–185 SB pp. 190–191 SB pp. 192–195 SB pp. 196–197 SB pp. 198–199 SB pp. 202–203	TR pp. 251–254 TR pp. 261–264 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 316–319 TR pp. 320–323 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 329–332 TR pp. 337–340 TR pp. 344–347 TR pp. 354–355 TR pp. 356–359 TR pp. 364–367 TR pp. 368–372 TR pp. 373–376 TR pp. 377–380 TR pp. 385–388	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #2
A2.1 formulate questions to guide investigations into different perspectives on the historical and/or contemporary experience of two or more distinct communities in Canada (e.g., the development of the reserve system from the perspective of First Nations, European settlers, and the federal government; the forced relocation of Japanese Canadians during the Second World War from the perspective of Japanese Canadians, the government at the time, and the government that issued an apology to Japanese Canadians; the formation of ethnic neighbourhoods from the perspective of the newcomers, their children, the people already in the neighbourhood, the local school, and/or the agencies and governments that provide services to the neighbourhood) Sample questions: “Why was the Chinese head tax created? What was the thinking of the government that imposed it? How did the policy affect Chinese immigrants to Canada and their families in China?” “Why did some people think Louis Riel was a hero while others thought he was a traitor?” “Why do newcomers to Canada tend to settle in neighbourhoods with people from the same country/region?”				SB p. 118 SB pp. 119–121 SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 124–125 SB pp. 136–137 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 158–159	TR pp. 230–232 TR pp. 233–237 TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 242–245 TR pp. 261–264 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 302–305	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #3 AC Ch. 9 #1

A2.2 gather and organize information from a variety of primary and secondary sources using various technologies (e.g., photographs, letters and diaries, oral stories, maps, songs, paintings, newspaper reports, books written on the experiences of new settlers in a community, books written about a specific community, online databases and archival collections) that present different perspectives on the historical and/or contemporary experience of two or more communities in Canada Sample questions: “What type of information can you gather from the petitions and letters of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit people about their experience of and perspectives on being relocated to reserves and/or new settlements? What other types of sources should you consult for information on the perspectives of these people? For other people’s perspectives?” “Why might photographs be a good source if you are investigating the internment of Japanese Canadians? What kinds of information do you think you can get from these photographs?”				SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 132–135 SB p. 138 SB pp. 139–141 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 154–155 SB pp. 158–159 SB pp. 170–171 SB pp. 176–177 SB pp. 190–191 SB pp. 198–199 SB pp. 202–203	TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 272–273 TR pp. 274–277 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 295–297 TR pp. 302–305 TR pp. 329–332 TR pp. 337–340 TR pp. 364–367 TR pp. 377–380 TR pp. 385–388	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #3 AC Ch. 9 #1
A2.3 analyze and construct print and digital maps as part of their investigations into different perspectives on the historical and/or contemporary experience of communities in Canada (e.g., analyze a flow map showing the relocation of First Nations, Métis, and/or Inuit communities; plot census data on a map to show the locations of different communities; construct a thematic map to show changes over time in the ethnic origin of the people in a community) Sample questions: “What does this flow map tell you about who has lived in this region in the past?” “What does this thematic map tell you about the land granted to Black Loyalists?” “What type of map might you construct to help you understand the perspectives of the Métis and Scots in the Red River district?”				SB pp. 136–137 SB pp. 139–141 SB pp. 156–157 SB pp. 166–169	TR pp. 261–264 TR pp. 274–277 TR pp. 298–301 TR pp. 324–328	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #3
A2.4 interpret and analyze information and evidence relevant to their investigations, using a variety of tools (e.g., use a graphic organizer to help them determine differences in perspectives of participants in the Red River Resistance or North-West Rebellion; plot census data on a line graph using a computer-based graphing program in order to help them determine changes over time in a specific community; analyze a collection of photographs for evidence about newcomers’ feelings toward their new community and about the feelings of people already living in that community toward the newcomers; examine the content of diaries to determine how people in the past felt about living in their community) Sample questions: “How could you use a cause-and-effect organizer to help you determine the impact of this event on different communities?” “What does this monument tell you about the way the community viewed the person or event it commemorates? Is this person/event viewed the same way today?” “What do the Grand Pré paintings tell you about the expulsion of the Acadians? Whose perspective do you think is conveyed in these paintings? Why?”				SB pp. 119–121 SB pp. 130–131 SB pp. 132–135 SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 148–149 SB pp. 156–157 SB p. 160 SB pp. 164–165 SB pp. 166–169 SB pp. 170–171 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 176–177 SB pp. 178–179 SB pp. 180–181 SB pp. 183–185 SB pp. 186–189 SB pp. 190–191 SB pp. 192–195 SB pp. 198–199 SB pp. 202–203	TR pp. 233–237 TR pp. 251–254 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 287–290 TR pp. 298–301 TR pp. 314–315 TR pp. 320–323 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 329–332 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 337–340 TR pp. 341–343 TR pp. 344–347 TR pp. 356–359 TR pp. 360–363 TR pp. 364–367 TR pp. 368–372 TR pp. 377–380 TR pp. 385–388	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #2 AC Ch. 8 #3 AC Ch. 9 #1

A2.5 evaluate evidence and draw conclusions about perspectives on the historical and/or contemporary experience of two or more distinct communities in Canada Sample questions: “What did you learn about the experiences of people living in Toronto at the beginning of the twentieth century? Were there conflicts between any ethnic or religious groups? In what ways was the experience of poor people different from that of wealthier residents? How and why did the perspectives of a factory owner and a factory worker in the city differ? Are similar differences still evident today?”				SB pp. 132–135 SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 148–149 SB pp. 164–165 SB pp. 166–169 SB p. 182 SB pp. 196–197 SB pp. 198–199 SB pp. 200–201	TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 287–290 TR pp. 320–323 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 354–355 TR pp. 373–376 TR pp. 377–380 TR pp. 381–384	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #1 AC Ch. 8 #2 AC Ch. 8 #3 AC Ch. 9 #2 AC Ch. 9 #3
A2.6 communicate the results of their inquiries, using appropriate vocabulary (e.g., perspective, ethnic group, emigrant, immigrant, entrepreneur, labourer, class) and formats (e.g., a dramatic piece in which different characters voice the perspectives of different groups; a slideshow that includes photographs and/or paintings that illustrate different perspectives on the same event)				SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 130–131 SB pp. 132–135	TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 251–254 TR pp. 255–260	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 8 #3 AC Ch. 9 #1
A3.1 identify the main reasons why different peoples came to Canada (e.g., political or religious freedom; political allegiances; available land; economic opportunity; family ties; poverty, famine, or political unrest in their country of origin; forced migration of slaves and “Home Children”) Sample questions: “What reasons did various people have for immigrating to New France?” “Why did so many people from Ireland come to Quebec and Ontario in the middle of the nineteenth century?” “Who were the ‘Home Children’? Why did they come to Canada?” “Why do people from many other countries continue to come to Canada?”				SB p. 118 SB pp. 119–121 SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 124–125 SB pp. 126–129 SB pp. 130–131 SB pp. 132–135 SB pp. 136–137 SB pp. 139–141 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 154–155 SB pp. 156–157	TR pp. 230–232 TR pp. 233–237 TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 242–245 TR pp. 246–250 TR pp. 251–254 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 261–264 TR pp. 274–277 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 295–297 TR pp. 298–301	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 9 #3
A3.2 describe some key economic, political, cultural, and social aspects of life in settler communities in Canada (e.g., with reference to land ownership; agricultural practices; work; religion; dress and diet; family life and the roles of men, women, and children; social and service clubs), and identify significant ways in which settlers’ places of origin influenced their ways of life in Canada Sample questions: “How did the system of land ownership in France influence land-owning practices in New France/Quebec?” “What are the sources of traditional folk music in Atlantic Canada?”				SB pp. 126–129 SB p. 138 SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 172–175	TR pp. 246–250 TR pp. 272–273 TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 333–336	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3
A3.3 identify various types of communities that have contributed to the development of Canada (e.g., the founding peoples—First Nations, Inuit, and Métis, French, British; later immigrant groups such as Chinese, Germans, Scandinavians, South Asians, Caribbean peoples; religious communities; economic communities such as resource towns; workers and labour organizations; rural and urban communities) Sample question: “What are some of the economic communities in different regions of Canada that have contributed to the development of the country? “What contributions have labour unions made to the development of Canada?”				SB pp. 126–129 SB pp. 132–135 SB p. 138 SB pp. 139–141 SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 161–163 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 180–181	TR pp. 246–250 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 272–273 TR pp. 274–277 TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 316–319 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 344–347	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #2

A3.4 describe significant events or developments in the history of two or more communities in Canada (e.g., First Nations: arrival of European explorers and settlers, the fur trade, the reserve system, the Indian Act, residential schools; French Canadians: expulsion of the Acadians, loss of the Battle of the Plains of Abraham; Japanese: forced relocation during World War II, the apology for this action from the federal government in 1988; Germans: religious freedom for Mennonite immigrants, the renaming of Berlin, Ontario, to Kitchener during World War I) and how these events affected the communities' development and/or identity Sample questions: "What impact did the residential school experience have on First Nations families and communities?" "What was Africville? What impact did its demolition have on its residents?"				SB p. 118 SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 124–125 SB pp. 132–135 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 148–149 SB pp. 158–159 SB pp. 164–165 SB pp. 166–169 SB pp. 170–171	TR pp. 230–232 TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 242–245 TR pp. 255–260 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 287–290 TR pp. 302–305 TR pp. 320–323 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 329–332	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 9 #3
A3.5 describe interactions between communities in Canada, including between newcomers and groups that were already in the country (e.g., trade among pre-contact First Nations; cooperation between First Nations and the French and British in the fur trade; conflict between Catholic and Protestants in Ontario or white and Asian residents in British Columbia; racism directed at Black settlers in Nova Scotia and southern Ontario; responses of local businesses, ranging from the refusal to serve certain groups to providing new products and services to help meet the needs of new communities; interactions between newcomers and settlement agencies or advocacy organizations) Sample questions: "How did white residents of Canada tend to view the arrival of immigrants from Asia in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries?" "What types of organizations existed in the past, or exist now, to help new immigrants in Canada?"				SB pp. 122–123 SB pp. 130–131 SB pp. 146–147 SB pp. 148–149 SB p. 160 SB pp. 161–163 SB pp. 164–165 SB pp. 166–169 SB pp. 170–171 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 176–177 SB pp. 178–179 SB pp. 180–181	TR pp. 238–241 TR pp. 251–254 TR pp. 283–286 TR pp. 287–290 TR pp. 314–315 TR pp. 316–319 TR pp. 320–323 TR pp. 324–328 TR pp. 329–332 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 337–340 TR pp. 341–343 TR pp. 344–347	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3
A3.6 identify key differences, including social, cultural, and/or economic differences, between two or more historical and/or contemporary communities in Canada (e.g., differences in gender roles between First Nations and French settlers in early Canada; social and economic differences between upper-class and working-class people in industrializing cities; differences in lifestyle between people on the frontier and those in established towns and cities; differences in the religious background of residents in different communities or at different times) Sample questions: "What are the differences between the life of a child living in poverty in nineteenth-century Canada and in the present day?" "When you look at the religious buildings and spiritual sites in our community, which are the oldest? Which are the newest? Is there any pattern with respect to the location of these buildings? If so, what does this pattern tell you?" "In what ways have different communities benefited from economic development in Canada? Have all communities benefited equally? Why, or why not?"				SB pp. 142–145 SB pp. 150–153 SB pp. 156–157 SB pp. 158–159 SB pp. 166–169	TR pp. 278–282 TR pp. 291–294 TR pp. 298–301 TR pp. 302–305 TR pp. 324–328	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #2 AC Ch. 9 #3

A3.7 describe significant changes within their own community in Canada (e.g., their ethnic or religious community, their local community, their region) Sample questions: “When did members of your community first come to Canada? Where did they settle? What was their life like? How is your life different from theirs?” “Has your community experienced discrimination in Canada?”				SB pp. 170–171 SB pp. 172–175 SB pp. 176–177	TR pp. 329–332 TR pp. 333–336 TR pp. 337–340	AC Ch. 6 #1 AC Ch. 6 #2 AC Ch. 7 #1 AC Ch. 7 #2 AC Ch. 7 #3 AC Ch. 8 #2

SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS		Unit 1: Canada’s Interactions with the Global Community		Unit 2: Communities in Canada, Past and Present
B1.1 explain why Canada participates in specific international accords and organizations (e.g., the North American Free Trade Agreement [NAFTA]; Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation [APEC]; the World Health Organization [WHO]; the North Atlantic Treaty Organization [NATO]; the United Nations [UN], including the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous People and/or the Convention on the Rights of the Child), and assess the influence of some significant accords and/or organizations in which Canada participates. Sample questions: “What action has the UN or NATO taken in response to international conflicts? What was Canada’s involvement? How effective do you think these actions were?” “Is the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child reflected in Canada’s Charter of Rights and Freedoms?” “What is the role of the WHO? What are some of the issues that the WHO has been involved in that have affected Canada?”	SB pp. 20–21 SB p. 36 SB pp. 37–39 SB pp. 42–43 SB pp. 54–55 SB p. 56 SB pp. 57–59 SB pp. 62–63	TR pp. 21–24 TR pp. 56–58 TR pp. 59–62 TR pp. 67–70 TR pp. 90–93 TR pp. 102–104 TR pp. 105–109 TR pp. 114–117	AC Ch. 1 #2 AC Ch. 1 #3 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 3 #1 AC Ch. 3 #2 AC Ch. 4 #2
B1.2 analyze responses of Canadian governments, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), and individual citizens to an economic, environmental, political, and/or social issue of international significance (e.g., how the federal government, different NGOs, business people, and individual consumers have responded to economic globalization; how different levels of government, health care workers, and individual citizens responded to the spread of H1N1 or SARS; how governments, development and human rights NGOs, and individuals, including students in their school, have responded to an issue such as a natural disaster in another region, child labour, child soldiers, climate change, or civil war and refugees) Sample questions: “How have different groups and individuals in Canada responded to the plight of refugees?” “What has been the response of Canadian governments, NGOs, and individual citizens to recent large-scale natural disasters?” “What are some of the ways in which NGOs and school groups have worked together to improve the life of children living in poverty?”	SB p. 16 SB pp. 17–19 SB pp. 22–25 SB pp. 26–27 SB pp. 28–31 SB pp. 32–33 SB pp. 34–35 SB p. 36 SB pp. 42–43 SB pp. 44–45 SB pp. 46–47 SB pp. 52–53 SB pp. 54–55 SB p. 56 SB pp. 60–61 SB pp. 66–69 SB pp. 72–73 SB p. 74 SB pp. 75–77 SB pp. 78–79 SB pp. 80–81 SB pp. 84–85 SB pp. 86–87 SB pp. 90–91 SB pp. 96–97 SB pp. 104–105 SB pp. 106–107	TR pp. 14–16 TR pp. 17–20 TR pp. 25–29 TR pp. 30–33 TR pp. 34–38 TR pp. 39–43 TR pp. 44–47 TR pp. 56–58 TR pp. 67–70 TR pp. 71–73 TR pp. 74–77 TR pp. 86–89 TR pp. 90–93 TR pp. 102–104 TR pp. 110–113 TR pp. 122–127 TR pp. 133–136 TR pp. 142–144 TR pp. 145–149 TR pp. 150–153 TR pp. 154–157 TR pp. 162–164 TR pp. 165–168 TR pp. 172–175 TR pp. 189–193 TR pp. 206–209 TR pp. 210–213	AC Ch. 1 #2 AC Ch. 1 #3 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 3 #1 AC Ch. 3 #2 AC Ch. 4 #2

B1.3 explain why some environmental issues are of international importance and require the participation of other regions of the world, along with that of Canada, if they are to be effectively addressed (e.g., issues such as global warming, carbon dioxide and sulphur dioxide emissions, ownership and availability of fresh water, deforestation, overfishing, invasive species, habitat protection of migrating species, or disposal of electronic waste) Sample questions: “Why does the issue of invasive species require action at the international level?” “How have disagreements over ocean fishing affected fish stocks in Canadian waters?” “Why can the disposal of your old computer be an environmental issue of international importance?” “What are the main sources of smog in southern Ontario?”	SB p. 92 SB pp. 93–95 SB pp. 96–97 SB pp. 98–99 SB pp. 100–101 SB pp. 102–103 SB pp. 106–107	TR pp. 182–184 TR pp. 185–188 TR pp. 189–193 TR pp. 194–197 TR pp. 198–201 TR pp. 202–205 TR pp. 210–213	AC Ch. 1 #2 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 3 #1 AC Ch. 3 #2 AC Ch. 4 #2
B2.1 formulate questions to guide investigations into global issues of political, social, economic, and/or environmental importance (e.g., child labour, dwindling oil supplies, ownership of and access to fresh water, climate change, food shortages, refugees, or natural disasters), their impact on the global community, and responses to the issues Sample questions: “What was Canada’s role in a recent relief effort in another part of the world? Was this effort sufficient to meet the needs of the distressed population?” “What impact does Canada’s consumption of coffee or chocolate have on the people and environment of the producer countries?” “How have the Canadian government and the Canadian people reacted to the melting of Arctic ice fields?”	SB p. 16 SB pp. 17–19 SB pp. 20–21 SB pp. 26–27 SB pp. 28–31 SB pp. 34–35 SB pp. 37–39 SB pp. 50–51 SB pp. 78–79 SB pp. 86–87 SB pp. 90–91	TR pp. 14–16 TR pp. 17–20 TR pp. 21–24 TR pp. 30–33 TR pp. 34–38 TR pp. 44–47 TR pp. 59–62 TR pp. 82–85 TR pp. 150–153 TR pp. 165–168 TR pp. 172–175	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 1 #3 AC Ch. 4 #1 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2
B2.2 gather and organize information on global issues of political, social, economic, and/or environmental importance, including their impact and responses to them, using a variety of resources and various technologies (e.g., use spatial technologies, satellite images, and/or online image banks as part of their investigation into the diminishing of ocean reef life; gather accounts by Inuit and northern First Nations witnesses to the effects of climate change; find annual precipitation rates for a region to study the relationship between drought and famine; locate data about products that Canadians import from countries that use child labour or other cheap labour; use interactive websites to find data and information about health issues facing specific countries or regions) Sample questions: “If you were studying the impact of climate change in the North, why would it be useful to listen to an Elder speak about the changes in the migration patterns of animals?” “How could you use photographs in your inquiry into climate change?” “Where might you look for data on changes in temperature and precipitation?” “Where would you find reliable data on the number of refugees in a region? Why might figures from the UN differ from those provided by the country from which the refugees originate?”	SB pp. 17–19 SB p. 36 SB pp. 48–49 SB pp. 50–51 SB pp. 52–53 SB pp. 54–55 SB pp. 60–61 SB pp. 75–77 SB pp. 82–83 SB pp. 90–91 SB pp. 106–107	TR pp. 17–20 TR pp. 56–58 TR pp. 78–81 TR pp. 82–85 TR pp. 86–89 TR pp. 90–93 TR pp. 110–113 TR pp. 145–149 TR pp. 158–161 TR pp. 172–175 TR pp. 210–213	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 2 #3 AC Ch. 3 #2 AC Ch. 4 #1 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2

B2.3 analyze and construct different types of maps, both print and digital, as part of their investigations into global issues, their impact, and responses to them (e.g., locate on a digital map or in a print atlas the region affected by a conflict that has given rise to refugee camps; use interactive atlases to track the spread of a disease; use issue-based or demographic maps to examine correlations between quality of life indicators; create a flow map that shows the starting point for some products that enter Canada) Sample questions: “How might you use thematic maps as part of your study of literacy and poverty rates in countries where Canadian development NGOs are active?” “What types of information would you need to plot on a map to examine whether arid countries that export agricultural products to Canada are being affected by desertification?”	SB pp. 17–19 SB pp. 28–31 SB p. 36 SB pp. 37–39 SB pp. 40–41 SB pp. 44–45 SB pp. 50–51 SB pp. 54–55 SB p. 56 SB pp. 64–65 SB pp. 72–73 SB pp. 88–89	TR pp. 17–20 TR pp. 34–38 TR pp. 56–58 TR pp. 59–62 TR pp. 63–66 TR pp. 71–73 TR pp. 82–85 TR pp. 90–93 TR pp. 102–104 TR pp. 118–121 TR pp. 133–136 TR pp. 169–171	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 2 #1 AC Ch. 3 #1 AC Ch. 5 #1
B2.4 interpret and analyze information and data relevant to their investigations, using a variety of tools (e.g., use an online mapping program to help them determine the relationship between Canadian aid and quality of life; analyze climate graphs to help them determine the effects of declining precipitation in a region or country; use a graphic organizer or a graph constructed on the computer to compare the number of Canadians who gave aid to Haiti after the 2010 earthquake with those who gave aid to Japan after the 2011 earthquake and tsunami) Sample questions: “What does this double bar graph reveal about the relationship between this NGO’s activities and access to clean water in various countries in this region?” “What did you find out about the amount of money that was raised in response to the Haitian and Japanese earthquakes?” “What do your quality-of-life maps suggest about why some countries tend to receive more aid than others?”	SB pp. 32–33 SB pp. 60–61 SB pp. 62–63 SB pp. 70–71 SB p. 74 SB pp. 78–79 SB pp. 82–83 SB pp. 84–85 SB pp. 88–89 SB pp. 90–91	TR pp. 39–43 TR pp. 110–113 TR pp. 114–117 TR pp. 128–132 TR pp. 142–144 TR pp. 150–153 TR pp. 158–161 TR pp. 162–164 TR pp. 169–171 TR pp. 172–175	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 2 #3 AC Ch. 4 #1 AC Ch. 4 #2 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2
B2.5 evaluate evidence and draw conclusions about global issues of political, social, economic, and/or environmental importance, their impact on the global community, and responses to the issues Sample questions: “What impact did the 2010 earthquake have on Haiti? What actions have the people in Haiti taken to rebuild their country? What type of aid did the country receive after the disaster? Has the aid resulted in improvements in the lives of the Haitian people? What else do you think could be done?” “What impact has climate change had on desertification in Africa? What other factors might contribute to desertification in this region? In what ways does the aid directed at this region attempt to address this issue? What else do you think needs to be done?”	SB pp. 32–33 SB pp. 66–69 SB pp. 70–71 SB pp. 84–85 SB pp. 86–87 SB p. 92 SB pp. 93–95 SB pp. 96–97 SB pp. 98–99 SB pp. 100–101 SB pp. 104–105 SB pp. 106–107	TR pp. 39–43 TR pp. 122–127 TR pp. 128–132 TR pp. 162–164 TR pp. 165–168 TR pp. 182–184 TR pp. 185–188 TR pp. 189–193 TR pp. 194–197 TR pp. 198–201 TR pp. 206–209 TR pp. 210–213	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 1 #2 AC Ch. 2 #3 AC Ch. 4 #1 AC Ch. 4 #2 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #3

B2.6 communicate the results of their inquiries, using appropriate vocabulary (e.g., non-governmental organization, intergovernmental organization, accord, international convention, aid, relief efforts) and formats (e.g., a plan of action for a fund-raising project in their school; a report for their school newsletter about why people should buy fair trade products; a song, rap, or poem written from the perspective of a person in a refugee camp or a child labourer; an infographic that shows how much money Canadians contributed in the past year to various global causes; a map that shows the impact of climate change in an agricultural region)	SB pp. 34–35 SB pp. 57–59 SB pp. 72–73 SB pp. 80–81 SB pp. 90–91 SB pp. 106–107	TR pp. 44–47 TR pp. 105–109 TR pp. 133–136 TR pp. 154–157 TR pp. 172–175 TR pp. 210–213	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2
B3.1 identify some of the major ways in which the Canadian government interacts with other nations of the world (e.g., through trade agreements, military alliances and action, intergovernmental organizations, environmental accords; by providing disaster relief or funds for social and/or economic development) Sample questions: “What is a free trade agreement?” “What is an intergovernmental organization?”	SB pp. 22–25 SB pp. 78–79	TR pp. 25–29 TR pp. 150–153	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 2 #1 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 2 #3 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2
B3.2 describe Canada’s participation in different international accords, organizations, and/or programs (e.g., the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, the WHO, NATO, the Blue Flag Program, UNICEF, NAFTA) Sample questions: “What is the Kyoto Protocol? What is Canada’s current position on it?” “What is the difference between NATO and the UN? Why does Canada belong to both? What does ‘belonging’ to these organizations mean for Canada?”	SB p. 16 SB pp. 22–25 SB pp. 26–27 SB pp. 34–35 SB pp. 46–47 SB pp. 48–49 SB pp. 62–63 SB pp. 100–101	TR pp. 14–16 TR pp. 25–29 TR pp. 30–33 TR pp. 44–47 TR pp. 74–77 TR pp. 78–81 TR pp. 114–117 TR pp. 198–201	AC Ch. 1 #1 AC Ch. 1 #3 AC Ch. 2 #1 AC Ch. 2 #2 AC Ch. 2 #3 AC Ch. 5 #1 AC Ch. 5 #2
